

The Kingdom of God

His Holy Church

Dedicated to the service of the Lord.

His Holy Church is composed of men and women of all ages, from all nations and races who are gathered together and have dedicated their lives and conformed themselves to the institution established by Christ.

They form by their free communion a religious society bound by love and service and founded and established by Jesus Christ, to receive, preserve, and propagate His precepts, doctrines and ordinances.

Beyond the boundaries of all nations, by their love for God, through Christ the King of His Kingdom, they create a free body or community of Christians, united under one form of government by the profession of one faith, and the observance of the same rituals and ceremonies.

Our rituals include practical service and sacrifice in charity and love. Our ceremonies are seen in the performance of mutual duties, the transaction of affairs of the people and of the Church, including letters or documents of witness, recognition, identification, and the celebration, recording and recognition of notable events of life, including but not limited to birth, rebirths, adoptions, marriages and deaths.

This edification of the faithful is established in charitable service through a Living Network of volunteers who care about each other, their rights, life and liberty as much as they care about their own as free souls under God in His kingdom in common service to all.

*The Kingdom of God at hand*¹ was preached by John the Baptist and Jesus. They told their disciples to do the same.² From the beginning of the gospel we were told that the kingdom was at hand, that we were supposed to seek it, that it was in our midst, and within our reach in a present tense.

Everyone knew that a king was born. Prophets knew it, Herod knew it. Magi, angels, and shepherds knew it.³ At Jesus' triumphant entry into Jerusalem, thousands of people hailed Him as the highest son of David, the Messiah, the Christ, the Anointed, the righteous King.

Today, men have created eschatologies that might lead people to believe that the Kingdom of Heaven or God is some distant event, or that it is only where you go when you die. While its jurisdiction may reach beyond the veil of life and death it was clearly for the living.⁴

The state of our modern society, its similarities to the world of Rome at the time of Christ, and the prophecy in 2 Thessalonians 2:11 of the coming of a strong delusion should compel us all to reexamine the events and words of the Gospel of the Kingdom, and what the early Church and the Christians were really saying and doing.

When Jesus told Pilate that His Kingdom was not of the "world" we see one of five different Greek words found in the New Testament which have all been translated into the single word "world". The word was kosmos, and it is defined in Strong's Concordance as an "orderly arrangement" and in Thayer's Greek Lexicon it is defined as "an apt and harmonious arrangement or constitution, order, government."⁵

The word kosmos in the Greek and Roman view at the time, "... meant originally the discipline of an army, and next the ordered constitution of a state."⁶ The word came from the Greek "komizo" meaning "to care for, take care of, provide for" or "carry off what is

1 Matthew 3:2 "And saying, Repent ye: for the kingdom of heaven is at hand." Matt. 4:17 "From that time Jesus began to preach, and to say, Repent: for the kingdom of heaven is at hand." Mark 1:15 "And saying, The time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God is at hand: repent ye, and believe the gospel."

2 Matthew 10:7 "And as ye go, preach, saying, The kingdom of heaven is at hand."

3 Mt 2:2 "Saying, Where is he that is born King of the Jews? for we have seen his star in the east, and are come to worship him." (also Luke 2:8, 15)

4 Luke 20:38 "For he is not a God of the dead, but of the living: for all live unto him." Luke 9:60 "Jesus said unto him, Let the dead bury their dead: but go thou and preach the kingdom of God."

one's own." Kosmos did not mean planet, inhabitable place, or age.

Jesus was not saying that His kingdom was not on the planet. It was at hand in spirit and truth. Jesus was simply telling Pontius Pilate, seated as the ruling judge of a Roman court,⁷ that his Kingdom was not a part of Pilate's constitution, order, government or state and Pilate had no jurisdiction to judge Jesus nor the kingdom God had given Him.⁸

Pilate, as Procurator of Rome, had already agreed⁹ that Jesus was the rightful "King of the citizens of Judea," and would proclaim it so on an official epigraph written in three languages and nailed to the cross.

Everyone who accepted Jesus as the Christ, the Messiah, their King was cast out of the government of the Pharisees.¹⁰ The Pharisees, by denouncing Christ and claiming no king but Caesar, had abandoned the Kingdom of God and had submitted to the jurisdiction of Rome.¹¹

Centuries before, in fulfillment of Samuel's prophecy¹² the Hasmonean Kings of Judea were taking the first fruits of the people, the best of their fields, making their instruments of war, and drafting their sons to fight their wars. By 78 BC the Pharisees, a political party, had passed ordinances,¹³ requiring the temple tax to be paid and enforced by threats of punishment by the appointed civil magistrates.¹⁴

In 66 BC, two royal brothers, Hyrcanus and Aristobulus, had begun to battle for the office of the king. Aristobulus appealed to the "world" of Rome, and Pompey's multi-national peace keeping military force.

Later in 63 BC, Pompey decided against Aristobulus, but Hyrcanus refused to appeal to Rome for protection in accordance with the Torah.

7 John 19:13 "When Pilate therefore heard that saying, he brought Jesus forth, and sat down in the judgment seat in a place that is called the Pavement, but in the Hebrew, Gabbatha." Matthew 27:19 "When he was set down on the judgment seat, ..."

8 Matthew 28:18 "And Jesus came and spake unto them, saying, All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth."

9 John 18:37 "...Jesus answered, Thou sayest that I am a king. To this end was I born, and for this cause came I into the world..."

10 John 9:22 "... the Jews had agreed already, that if any man did confess that he was Christ, he should be put out of the synagogue."

11 John 19:15 "But they cried out, Away with [him], away with [him], crucify him. Pilate saith unto them, Shall I crucify your King? The chief priests answered, We have no king but Caesar."

12 1 Samuel 8:1...22 "... ye shall cry out in that day because of your king which ye shall have chosen you; and the LORD will not hear you in that day..."

13 Salome- Alexandra (about 78 BC), that the Pharisaical party, being then in power, had carried an enactment by which the Temple tribute was to be enforced at law. Alfred Edersheim's book The Temple.

14 Magistrates were called "elohiym", translated into "gods" or "God". [See Strong's.]

The Pharisees, however, did request this foreign aid, contrary to the law of the Torah which gave Roman occupation an appearance of legitimacy.

Rome was in its own decline. The people were neglecting the responsibilities that had kept them free. Greed and corruption had brought in political and economic subjugation of the people through a dependence on governments created by men like Caesar and Herod.

Judea had followed the political pattern of Rome with their “free bread and circuses”. Some men entice the favor and support of the people gaining power. Herod had offered a new deal. Social welfare was provided through his government. Membership required baptism. The people were given an ID token made from a white stone with a registered Hebrew name carved on it to guarantee their eligibility for benefits and to keep track of their required and compelled contributions.

The social welfare systems, called Corban by the Jews, or Qurban by the Romans, had previously been systems of voluntary freewill offerings of charity, with hope, and by love for neighbor. The Corban of the Pharisees was no longer a “freewill offering”. Their government no longer depended on faith, hope, and charity. This new socialist system of benefits by membership formed a government which exercised authority one over the other through imposed taxes legislated by the Sanhedrin.

“Let their table become a snare before them: and [that which should have been] for [their] welfare, [let it become] a trap.” Psalms 69:22

“And David saith, Let their table be made a snare, and a trap, and a stumblingblock, and a recompence unto them:” Romans 11:9

John the Baptist offered an alternative to Herod's Kingdom of Heaven. His was a system based on faith, hope, and charity, the law of love and liberty. If you had two coats and your neighbor had none you were to share. Jesus preached that kingdom, and many chose to follow.

The “kingdom of God” was the right to be ruled by God. Moses saved the people from Egypt and Abraham led the people from Ur, and Haran, and freed them from Sodom, and Gomorrah.

There has always been a hope that men could be ruled by virtue as free souls under God and not by other men. Jesus would bring a more complete salvation in spirit and in truth in a kingdom at hand within you.

The Pharisees had made the “word of God to none effect” by their ordinances which forced the contributions of the people and brought them back into the bondage of Egypt. In Matthew 21:43 Jesus said he was going to take the “Kingdom of God”, a present reality, away from them and it would be “given to a nation bringing forth the fruits thereof.”

The Pharisee's socialist systems of compelled offerings was set up by leaders who called themselves “benefactors”, but exercised authority one over the other, which was forbidden by Jesus in Luke 22:25, 29 :

“And he said unto them, The kings of the Gentiles exercise lordship over them; and they that exercise authority upon them are called benefactors. But ye [shall] not [be] so...” [See also Mtt. 20:25, Mk 10:42.]

Jesus went on to say, “And I appoint unto you a kingdom, as my Father hath appointed unto me;” The Corban of this appointed Christian government made the word of God to effect because it required that the leaders of Christ's government, His Holy Church, allow the people the liberty to choose how, when, and to whom they would contribute for the care of one another. His sacrifice and appointment of a kingdom freed the people in spirit and truth from the laws of the Pharisees.¹⁵

The Corban of Rome and the Pharisees was no different than the bondage of Egypt. God had told the people to never return to that system of government.¹⁶ It had begun with a promise to take care of the needy of society, but it bound men under the authority of rulers. Those who professed Christ were cast out of that iniquitous welfare system.¹⁷

The Bible is supposed to be a book about “religion”, yet of the five times the word religion appears in the text, there is only one place that it is used in a good and somewhat defining sense:

“Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, [and] to keep himself unspotted from the world.” James 1:27

Religion is how we take care of the needy of society. Do we care for the needs of our neighbor by faith, hope, and charity, or by force, fear, and compliance? Do we live and let live by love and liberty, or do we dictate and covet entitlements through elected rulers who call themselves benefactors, yet exercise authority by providing for our wants at the expense of our neighbor?

For centuries Israel had maintained a system of government

15 Colossians 2:14 “Blotting out the handwriting of ordinances that was against us, which was contrary to us, and took it out of the way, nailing it to his cross;”

16 Deuteronomy 17:16 “... nor cause the people to return to Egypt... Ye shall henceforth return no more that way.”

17 John 9:22 “These [words] spake his parents, because they feared the Jews: for the Jews had agreed already, that if any man did confess that he was Christ, he should be put out of the synagogue.”

dependent solely on “freewill offerings” and a sense of community and brotherhood. That simple precept of God had kept the nation strong and free. When the “voice of the people” cried out for a benefactor who could exercise authority God called that prayer a rejection of Him. Despite the warnings by God in 1st Samuel, Chapter 8, the people elected to have a form of government that changed the face and nature of their society.

Jesus Christ was king, but a different kind of king. His apostles were ambassadors and titular princes of a government but they did not exercise authority over the people.

Under the kings of Israel, the power to fire the porters of the government temple treasury was the right of every king.¹⁸ That is exactly what Jesus was doing with His string whip in the temple. He was not merely tipping over tables, but he was firing the corrupt administrators in the government temple.¹⁹ The money-changers were officials holding a government commissioned position in the national treasury.²⁰

Those who had been in charge of God’s kingdom on earth were going the wrong way and Jesus as high priest and king was saying repent, turn around. He wasn’t going to force change but He was appointing an alternative government that allowed people a right to choose God’s way.

“Fear not, little flock; for it is your Father’s good pleasure to give you the kingdom.” Luke 12:32

Once the people received the baptism under the authority of the Anointed Kingship of Jesus²¹ they were no longer eligible to apply for the benefits of the government of the Pharisees established under the baptism and authority of Herod. They were also no longer subject to the duties and obligations imposed by Pharisees and even Rome. Through the baptism of Christ the people were freed from those handwritten ordinances of the Sanhedrin²² as well as the decrees of the former corrupt 20 John 8:20 “These words spake Jesus in the treasury, as he taught in the temple: and no man laid hands on him; for his hour was not yet come.” The word treasury is γαζοφυλακιον gazophulakion 1) “a repository of treasure, especially of public treasure, a treasury” kings of that nation who had returned them to the bondage of Egypt.

Citizens of Judea who followed the ways of Jesus were set free from Rome itself because Christ was a King, a recognition sealed in His own blood.²³ His Ambassadors²⁴ may make no treaty with Rome nor its gods.

Understanding the difference between the nature of the government that God intended for men and the governments often instituted by men from Babylon to Egypt, from Rome to modern governments is essential in understanding the elements of that Gospel of the Kingdom and the elements of the world.²⁵

Many people today believe they are Christian and assume they are following Christ, but are in fact no closer to Christ than the Pharisees were to God. No one is Christian because they say they are, or say they believe Jesus was the Christ and the son of God. The adversary believes that much. We are brothers in Christ because we do what He said:

“And why call ye me, Lord, Lord, and do not the things which I say?” Luke 6:46 [Matthew 7:21, 22, Luke 13:25]

Saul was the first elected king when the people “rejected” God. When he forced the people to contribute to his government Samuel called it foolishness and prophesied that his kingdom would fall.²⁶ When David numbered the young men for a draft to support the army it was called a sin, from which he later repented.²⁷ When the kings set up a central government treasury, formed a standing professional army, and began to pass laws that returned the people to the bondage of Egypt they were all going against the will of God.²⁸

The people of Judea had gone back into the bondage of Egypt where the people were forced to pay at least a 20% income tax to the government,²⁹ there was a central treasury or bank, and all the land and cattle were owned by government suffrage. Jesus came to change all that

23 Luke 23:38 “And a superscription also was written over him in letters of Greek, and Latin, and Hebrew, ‘THIS IS THE KING OF THE JEWS.’”

24 Apostolov, or apostle is a “a delegate, messenger, one sent forth with orders” “apostle” meant “ambassador,” or “emmissary”.

25 Galatians 4:3 “Even so we, when we were children, were in bondage under the elements of the world [“... arrangement or constitution, order, government”].”

26 1 Samuel 13:12, 14 “... And Samuel said to Saul, Thou hast done foolishly ...”

27 2 Samuel 24:10 “...David’s heart smote him after that he had numbered the people. And David said unto the LORD, I have sinned greatly ...”

28 Deuteronomy 17:15 ,18

29 Genesis 47:24 “And it shall come to pass in the increase, that ye shall give the fifth [part] unto Pharaoh, and four parts shall be your own, for seed of the field, and for your food, and for them of your households, and for food for your little ones.”

and did for those who would seek His ways. He set all the people free who would accept the responsibility and duties of His godly government and live by faith, hope and charity and the perfect law of loving liberty.

Under Abraham's leadership and faith the people set up charitable altars to maintain societies by free will offerings which liberated them from the degrading subjections of the city-states. When Moses returned to Egypt in hope of setting the people free they still had to pay their tale of bricks, but they had to provide their own straw.³⁰ The “tale of bricks” and “straw” are metaphors for their tax obligation owed to government and the social welfare benefits they normally would have been provided.

“The real destroyers of the liberties of the people is he who spreads among them bounties, donations and benefits.” Plutarch,

Throughout history these forms of government of power which offer benefits to one class of citizen at the expense of another have eventually failed under growing avarice, apathy, and covetous greed of the people and the corruption of their leaders. Without liberty of choice, diligence dies and sloth and greed reign as king.³¹ The prophets of God have always preached systems of self government dependent upon the daily practice of virtue where the right to choose, which all men are endowed with by God, remains intact.

Jesus and John the Baptist were teaching that same message of common love. They agreed that you may owe Caesar and Herod because you have gone under their authority, but everyone needed to learn to do without their tainted benefits of those civil religions if they were going to be free again. In truth, the Bible is a “do's and don't” guidebook to freedom under God, the kingdom of God. It has forever warned of what will lead us back into the bondage of men and away from God.

In the first chapter of Proverbs there is a lengthy warning about giving your consent with men who are greedy for gain. Those men entice others to have “one purse”. Through cunning and craft they swallow people alive, trapping everyone in a net of their own making.

Peter warns us that through “covetousness” and “feigned words” we will be made “merchandise,” “human resources”, losing our freedom in Christ.³² Just as David, Jesus, and Paul warned about the welfare system

30 Exodus 5:18 “Go therefore now, [and] work; for there shall no straw be given you, yet shall ye deliver the tale of bricks.”

31 “... the slothful shall be under tribute.” Proverbs 12:24

32 2 Peter 2:3 “... through covetousness shall they with feigned words make merchandise of you: whose judgment now of a long time lingereth not, and their damnation of rulers which snares the people, Proverbs 23³³ warned us about desiring with a coveting appetite those benefits from leaders who, by our consent, are given the power to “exercise authority” over the people.

“Are men the property of the state? Or are they free souls under God? This same battle continues throughout the world today.”³⁴

The Ten Commandments is about more than Thou shalt not kill, commit adultery, steal, or bear false witness against our neighbor. They were to be written on our hearts and minds to make us free souls under God. The Kingdom of God, in the Greek “basileia theos”, means the right to be ruled by God. The Bible tells of the struggle of man to be ruled by God or ruled by the gods of Cain, Nimrod, Pharaoh, or Caesar.

“If we will not be ruled by God, then we will be ruled by tyrants.”³⁵

This kind of ruler brings the people into a citizenship of servitude.³⁶ Their power is instituted by the consent of the governed³⁷ who desire their benefits, but in return they require the obeisance and service of the people.³⁸ They rule with a different *character*³⁹ than God the Father.

Jesus told us to only pray to “Our Father” in heaven and to “call no man father upon the earth”.⁴⁰ If we choose men, who call themselves benefactors, making covenants⁴¹ to obtain benefits at the expense of our neighbor,⁴² then we will only have those who by nature are no *gods*⁴³ to cry out to in the “world” we have made for ourselves.⁴⁴

Honoring our Father and Mother was about retaining the rights of the family. “Excise, in its origin, is the patrimonial right of emperors and kings.”⁴⁵ Government rights originally were vested in the family which was God's first institution. Governments are based on the law of Patronus, our father. As the power of government increases family rights decrease. With whom goes the responsibility, there also goes the right.

The Kingdom of God was a dominion of individuals where the power of the “State” rested in God's sacred institution, the Family. It was and is a system of self-government dependent on the willingness of the people to accept individual responsibility for the welfare of society through charity rather than contracts and force. You could not compel your neighbor to provide benefits through the exercising authority of elected government officials. To force your neighbor to provide the social benefits you desire would be a violation of the foundational law of God to love one another and to not covet anything that belongs to our neighbors through any institution or social scheme.

Ezekiel 11⁴⁶ warns the people about building a civil structure that makes our neighbors and ourselves human resources to be devoured by each other through the power of those who call themselves benefactors but exercise authority one over the other.

“For the LORD [is] our judge, the LORD [is] our lawgiver, the LORD [is] our king; he will save us.” Isaiah 33:22

The wicked governments mentioned in the Old Testament like Cain's city-state, Nimrod's⁴⁷ Babylon, or Pharaoh's treasure cities brought the people into bondage in exchange for benefits. The Bible is about men who serve God by loving each other as He loves us, or men who covet their neighbor's rights by establishing governments where certain men exercise authority over other men as elite rulers over a subject citizenry.

We are being warned in Colossians 2:8⁴⁸ not to lose our God given

44 Judges 10:14 “Go and cry unto the gods which ye have chosen; let them deliver you in the time of your tribulation.” Jeremiah 11:12 “Then shall the cities of Judah and inhabitants of Jerusalem go, and cry unto the gods unto whom they offer incense: but they shall not save them at all in the time of their trouble.”

45 Vectigal, origina ipsa, jus Caesarum et regum patrimoniale est.

46 Ezekiel 11:2, 3 “these are the men that devise mischief... Which say, [It is] not near; let us build houses: this [city is] the caldron, and we [be] the flesh.”

47 Genesis 10:9 “He was a mighty hunter before the LORD...” is telling us that Nimrod was a great 'provider instead of God'.

48 Colossians 2:8 “Beware lest any man spoil you through philosophy and vain deceit, right to freedom, and being tempted to abandon the ways of Christ by being deceived with ideas that cause us to give up these rights.⁴⁹ We also see the Greek word translated “traditions”⁵⁰ can actually mean “ordinances” in accordance with the “elements”⁵¹ of the “constitutional order” of men which is often translated “world” but means the “state”.

“Wherefore if ye be dead with Christ from the rudiments of the world, why, as though living in the world, are ye subject to ordinances,” Colossians 2:20

The word rudiments is the word elements we see in Peter's epistle:

“Looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat?” 2 Peter 3:12

Some interpreters of the New Testament suggest that the word “elements” is referring to a future nuclear war. The same words “element” is also used in Galatians 4:3, in reference to being “in bondage under the elements of the world.” This is the same “world” which is defined “constitution, order, government” or “state.” Again in Galatians 4:9⁵² the word is used to describe the elements of returning to “bondage” under that world or state where men covet each others goods.

Colossians goes on to talk about being “Buried with him in baptism”⁵³ we are all raised from the dead in the “operation” of God. We know Jesus spoke about the dead burying the dead because they would not participate in the ways of God or the way that Jesus Christ came to preach, saying, “If ye love me, keep my commandments.” John 14:15

When men stop praying to those who call themselves benefactors and start coming together in the character or name of Christ as true sons of the Father, then they will be able to blot out the hand written ordinances of men and be free indeed. But because false brethren have deceptively brought false doctrines about the simplicity of the gospel of the kingdom, our liberty under God has turned into bondage.⁵⁴

after the tradition of men, after the rudiments of the world, and not after Christ.”

50 The Greek word paradosis is also translated ordinance, defined “giving up, giving over”

51 στοιχειον stoicheion translated element, rudiment, principle, defined “any first thing,... first principal ... the principles and practices of the old covenant world order.

52 Galatians 4:9 “... after that ye have known God, or rather are known of God, how turn ye again to the weak and beggarly elements, whereunto ye desire again to be in bondage?”

53 Colossians 2:12 “Buried with him in baptism, wherein also ye are risen with [him] through the faith of the operation of God, who hath raised him from the dead.”

54 Galatians 2:4 “...false brethren unawares brought in, who came in privily to spy out our

We are told “Stand fast... in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage” by eating that which is sacrificed to idols. We were “called unto liberty; only use not liberty for an occasion to the flesh, but by love serve one another.”⁵⁵

“And I say unto you, Make to yourselves friends of the mammon of unrighteousness; that, when ye fail, they may receive you into everlasting habitations... No servant can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon.” Luke 16:9, 13. Mt. 6:24.

“Mammon” means a system of entrusted wealth⁵⁶ where a government may hold the right to exercise authority over the wealth and property of the people. Men who seek power seek those offices of power and are corrupted by that power granted by the people, not by God.

Mankind has repeatedly been snared by his own wantonness and appetite, his own greed and lust. Man's sinful nature will always bring him back to the bondage of Egypt. He must repent and change his ways in order to be free. Even though he may have to suffer for a season under the burden of his captivity, he must, with honesty and honor, seek the ways of liberty originally bestowed by Our Father who art in Heaven.

Did Jesus preach a new world order?The gospel of Matthew wrote in Aramaic. Translating the Aramaic to Greek, the word malkuthach becomes basileia ouranos, or Kingdom of Heaven, meaning a “realm”. Ouranos is best translated “world”⁵⁷ as in His Kingdom of the World.

Have certain ungodly men crept in denying the only Lord God, and our Lord Jesus Christ?⁵⁸ Have we left the path to the Kingdom of God and crossed over into the ways of the “world” and the grip of Caesar?

Christ was the king professed by Christians. They did not pray for the liberty which we have in Christ Jesus, that they might bring us into bondage:”

subjugating benefits which snared the people into bondage. They sought another kingdom, another government, as free souls under God caring for themselves, and working out their salvation with fear and trembling.

The “union and discipline of the Christian republic... gradually formed an independent and increasing state in the heart of the Roman Empire.”⁵⁹ The early Christians were recognized by Rome through the proclamation nailed to the cross by Pontius Pilate. When Jesus rose from the dead to stand again upon the earth, so did His Kingdom.

The Eucharist⁶⁰ of Christ was the joy of thanksgiving. The early Church was the government of God, answering the prayers of the people by the love and charity of the people who had Christ dwelling in them. In times of famine, social unrest, and want, Christians, who refused to eat the “free bread” of a declining Roman government, were able to sustain and prosper as a community through faith, hope, and charity.

Being excluded from the welfare of Rome and Judea prepared men and women for the decline of the Empire. Christians who had a surplus during the runaway inflation, economic collapse, and endless foreign wars of Rome were able to aid the needy, giving from their hearts.⁶¹

“Ye cannot drink the cup of the Lord, and the cup of devils: ye cannot be partakers of the Lord’s table, and of the table of devils.”
1Corinthians 10:21

His Holy Church was a network of souls with God's love written on their hearts and minds. It was the righteous social insurance through the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free in the righteous love of God.

We are all in the world God created, but are we of the world created by men, or, are we in that world but of God's kingdom and righteous ways? We may all pray to God the Father, but should we also pray to the gods of the world at the expense of our neighbor when we know those benefits which we covet snare us into bondage again? Why should we exchange the liberty of Christ for the chains of the world?

Repent, and seek the Kingdom of God, and His righteousness.

60 Eucharist is the Greek word for thanksgiving.

61 “And the wealthy among us help the needy ... and willing, give what each thinks fit; and what is collected is deposited with the president, who succours the orphans and widows and those who, through sickness or any other cause, are in want, and those who are in bonds and the strangers sojourning among us, and in a word takes care of all who are in need.” (Ch. 65-67) AD 150, Justin Martyr on the early Church.

The Covenants of the gods is a blend of Law, Scripture, and History offering insight into the contractual nature of governments. An iconoclastic explication of man's past and present entanglements with the world by assent and consent, through application and acquiescence producing a rise in despotism and the decline of liberty.

Thy Kingdom Comes is a history of the Kingdom of God, from Abraham to the first millennium. What did it look like and how did it work from generation to generation? A revealing look at the sophistry and deception of one form of government hated by God and the other instituted by the prophets of God which changed lives, freed nations and brought tyrants down.

The Free Church Report is an examination of the early Church, what it can do and has failed to do. A compendium of the nature, structure and methods of the Church established by Christ in modern terms; how it worked and can work today. A documented look at forming a free Church.

Contracts, Covenants, and Constitutions, reveals the contrasting nature of a free government and those established through contract, the prohibition of the Bible concerning government by contract, and the debt bondage that always results.

The Higher Liberty explores the simple truth of how God made you to be free men, serving Him in Spirit and in Truth but some men wish to bring you into bondage through deception.
